Description
Provide a short description of the event and its activities.
A new story for the EU" by a more active young generation was the name of our project. Not only the mutual relations between the representatives of the partner municipalities, but also between the participants were renewed and strengthened. The project was based on the involvement of citizens in individual activities, equality for all was applied throughout the event. The very name of the project pointed not only to the importance of building a sense of European pride in each of us - to the opportunities of shaping the EU's diversity and also to the need to think about its future. A very important point for us was to devote ourselves to breaking down Euro-scepticism and clarifying the current pandemic situation, to propose concrete measures to help and not forget solidarity in times of crisis. Experts, volunteers and health workers were invited, who clarified the current events from their own experience - these rare seminars were an opportunity to look at the individual brochures of the EU materials, which were available during the three days of the event. Individually acquired knowledge and materials in the form of brochures were transferred by the participants not only to their families, but also to their workplaces and acquaintances and friends, thereby ensuring the transmission of enlightenment to neighbouring villages and towns. The youth exchanged information with each other mainly through social networks - the awareness of the young generation increased, which was the main key to a better aware society - a better future of the EU. The project was aimed at all age groups, but above all at the young generation. Children and youth were key target groups that needed to be educated and led to aware and active citizens - to create a new EU story. The first day was dedicated to getting to know the beauties of the local applicant and establishing friendships through a friendly relaxed atmosphere. Intergenerational and language barriers were broken down, which was extremely important for the success of the given project. The evening ended with a beautiful theatrical performance in the open air, accompanied by gypsy music. There was space for free conversations between the participants of the event. The morning of the second day was focused on a beautiful activity in the form of a charity run, the feeling that we are moving for a good cause. An extensive topic was prepared in the form of the 1st pillar, which forms the basis of knowledge of the EU. They were conducted under the supervision of lecturers and experts. The afternoon of the second day gave us the opportunity to bring the participants into the world of tradition. Beautiful musical experiences strengthened the feeling of being transferred to another world. The craftsmen had prepared samples of their creations and the participants could also try them. We filled our bellies by tasting local specialties and domestic products, and then we focused better and concentrated on Euroworld in the form of the 2nd pillar, within which we focused on understanding the benefits that the EU offers us. The evening ended with beautiful entertainment in the form of colourful musical performances, which were prepared for us. On the last day of the event, we focused on the last 2 pillars, namely pandemics, what happened around us, what we need to know how to do in the future. Citizens were instilled with the feeling of being considerate of others and not forgetting solidarity. To take a break from absorbing important thoughts, a block was prepared in the form of learning about volunteering, as well as an activity for the little ones in the form of a fire-fighting experience. The last pillar was dedicated to the future that depends on us. We ended the day with a beautiful activity in the form of a quiz, What have you learned about the EU?
